On my way to California the weather was as miserable as I was.

The rat had a bedroom set up for me when I arrived. I could see the Hollywood sign from my window, and it wasn't as magical as people say it is.

"When I stand at attention
I'm really asking questions like what the hell is up with you? Your red?
Your white?
Your f blue?
And when I go to cast my vote
I'm unimpressed with your one note
People spitting back what you quote.
I won't learn your words by rote."

The rat
dragged me
to a Fourth of July party
where suck
was playing.
This is where I met Lake for the first time.

Lake is an odd but cool girl. She's crazy good at the guitar and loves rock just as much as her dad (Sam Suck).

Lake's first show was a disaster! Her band quit on her so it just left the two of us. But we both had fun performing anyway.

Garth

Garth is another one of my friends.
He's a
skateboarder,
and he's upsets with the rat and
suck.

This was me enjoying the rat's pool! It was so nice to be out of the humid apartment. This is where I met Trixie (the rat's girlfriend).

Trixie loves
burlesque
dancing.
She also has a baby boy named Augy that I babysat a few times.

Hey Katy how's your trip so far? I would kill to be chilling in California!

During my trip, I made sure to stay in contact with my mom and friends from home as much as I could.

By the end of my trip I had become much closer to the rat. Him and Trixie gave me tickets to visit again as a going away present, and they'll definately come in handy.
