
June 5, 2017
Claire, Eisenburger

Good Day Mr.Trump,

I recently read an article saying that you wanted to withdraw the United States of America from the Paris Agreement. I understand that you have a different opinion however, I'd like to state mine, in attempts to help you see the other side of the story.

I disagree with your choice to withdraw from the Paris agreement as global warming is a serious problem, while it may be more convenient for you to pull out of the agreement as you wouldn't need to worry about your carbon emissions or greenhouse gases but that simply isn't true. Although you can't see it now global warming is affecting the USA. Heavier downpours, strengthened heat waves, altered river flows and extended growing seasons. These changes, will place increasing stress on water, health, energy and transportation systems and have, in several instances, already crossed tipping points to irreversible change. Not only the USA has felt the wrath of global warming but also other countries. Extreme droughts in East Africa, the melting of ice caps in Antarctica, these are all the horrible side affects of global warming. Millions of people and animals are dying because their world is changing at a rate they can't keep up with and if things keep going at this rate I'm afraid more will perish.

This can all be changed, if everybody works together to make a difference we can slowly prevent things from getting worse. However, everybody needs to work together, including the United States of America. If you retire the USA from the Paris agreement you're showing that the United States doesn't care that the world is dying and I'm sure this is not the message you want to send to the world. Personally I don't see how removing yourselves from the agreement will benefit anyone in the long run.

Please consider your options,

Claire. E