

SOCIAL STUDIES 10

CORE IDEAS

1. Global and regional conflicts have been a powerful force in shaping our contemporary world and identities.
2. The development of political institutions is influenced by economic, social, ideological, and geographic factors.
3. Worldviews lead to different perspectives and ideas about developments in Canadian society.
4. Historical and contemporary injustices challenge the narrative and identity of Canada as an inclusive, multicultural society.

COMPETENCIES

This course will focus on developing the following competencies:

Developing inquiry processes and skills

Assessing and comparing various perspectives on their significance during various time periods

Assessing the reliability of sources, ethical judgments and adequacy of evidence around points of contention

Comparing and contrasting continuities and changes for various groups within Canada

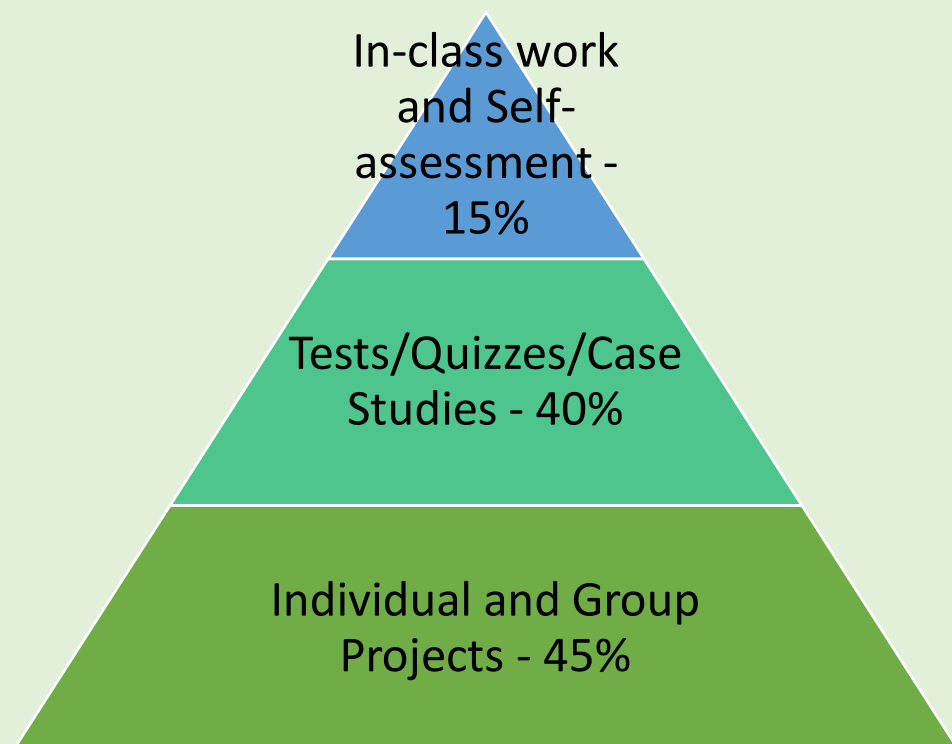

Evaluating how conditions and actions of individuals or groups impacts events and decisions

Analyze various perspectives on people and events and determine appropriate ways to remember and respond

EVALUATION

*This course will provide students with various opportunities for assessment and self-reflection. It is important that students take responsibility for their own actions, work habits, time management and communication.

*This course will give students chances to explore topics of individual interest. As such, students will be challenged to engage with many deep-thinking and open-ended questions.
