

This student is into online gambling. He sometimes steals his parent's credit cards to use for gambling and constantly borrows money from people at school but never seems to pay it back. Everyone is starting to get angry about it.

This student takes whatever prescription drugs are available at home almost every day. The student mixes different drugs all the time. When she goes to a friend's house she steals whatever drugs she can find. Several times, she has passed out. Last week, at school, they had to call an ambulance to pick her up because she passed out in the hall.
