

Human Gets Locked Up by His Own Robot Duplicate

Last week, Brailing, thirty-five-year-old, was found locked up in a box in his own basement.

Brailing had found a business that makes complete replicas of others, Marionettes Inc.

Brailing had created his duplicate, Brailing 2, because his wife, Mrs. Brailing, was too clingy and he could not have a life outside of the relationship without her being there since she loved him so much.

He would have his duplicate act as him while he went out with his friends until late at night.

“Brailing had told me that when he’d get home, he would lock Brailing 2 in his box until the next time Brailing needed him.” Claimed Brailing’s friend, Smith.

The robots would cost between $7,600 to $15,000 depending on what model you want.

“I’ve had him for a month, and I keep him in the cellar in a toolbox. My wife never goes downstairs, and I have the only lock and key to that box.” Brailing had claimed earlier in an interview.

Brailing had planned to go to Rio for about a month without his wife knowing so he was going to use Brailing 2 as a replacement while he is gone so Mrs. Brailing will not notice anything.

Smith had planned to make a duplicate of himself from Marionettes Inc. and only use $8,000 dollars to make one.

If his wife questioned about the money, he would say that it is a business venture.

He had $10,000 in his kidney desk, but when he opened it, there were only $5,000.

He got mad and furious and started crying her name and telling his wife, Nettie, to wake up but she would not budge.

Brailing 2 did not actually like going into the box.

“Marionettes Inc. robots are made to move. We’re also new and sensitive.” Brailing 2 said.

Brailing had said that Brailing 2 had started to develop feeling for Mrs. Brailing.

Brailing 2 planned to buy Mrs. Brailing tickets to go to Rio as well since Brailing could not bother considering it.

Brailing 2 claimed that Brailing was calling Marionettes Incorporated since Brailing 2 had fallen in love with Brailing’s wife.

He wanted to make her feel loved and warm which Brailing could not do since he always wanted to go out.

Brailing 2 had also planned to lock Brailing in the box he used to stay locked in.

But instead of keeping the key like Brailing would do, he was going to lose the key and never have him out of the box.

He had thought that Mrs. Brailing had found out about Marionettes Inc. and knew that Brailing 2 was a duplicate and not an actual human.

That also had resulted into Brailing 2 to freak out and question everything that happened which is why it has resulted into him wanting to lock up Brailing and losing the key.

Brailing 2 had gotten home and went up to Mrs. Brailing and kissed her cheek.

She was shocked that someone had kissed her since that has not happened in almost ten years.
