Today's math activity

Today's math activity we did a exponent make your own question quiz are used creative thinking to try to find out the answers by making questions. For critical thinking I had a find out which number goes anywhere because we only had one of each number. Each question was sometimes Close to the same and sometimes very different. For most questions we had 0 to 9 but for some questions we had -4 to 9. This is how are use my critical thinking to answer the questions that we had honor in class project today in math.
