

Ella's Future

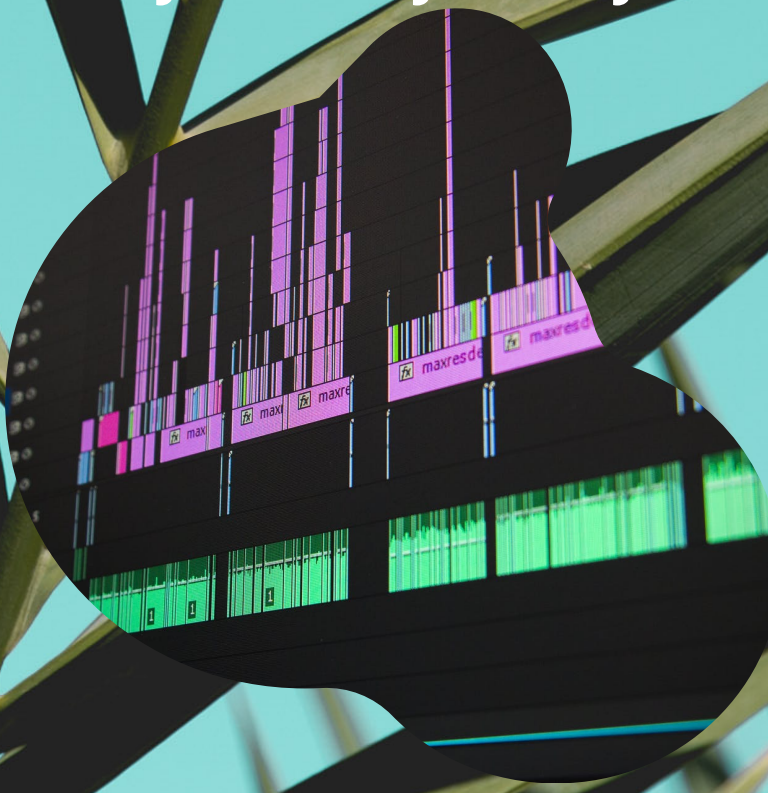

In the future fitness will definitely be in my life. fitness is something I use not only for my physical health but also my mental health.

In the future I plan to foster dogs while they wait to find forever homes. I am very much so a dog person. I love all dog breeds and would like to experience a bit of each breed.

In the future I plan to live in an apartment in BC. the reason for that is I plan to live alone so I won't need tons of space. I plan to stay in BC because I want to stay near my family.

In the future I plan on becoming a film and video editor. The world of video editing absolutely fascinates me, so I think this would be a good fit for me.

In the future I plan to have the Toyota Corolla L 6M in black. It is an electric car, which is better for the environment. It is a decent price and something that I can definitely see myself driving in the future
