

Who am I

My name is Justine Flaubert, I am 16 years old and am in French immersion here at Riverside. My dad is French, and my mom is Canadian, which makes me a French-Canadian. I love to travel and share my travels via the media. My dream job would be to travel the world, but for now I am planning to go into business, as I find the business world amazing and somewhere I could fit into quite well. I do like to share my thoughts and create conversations, so many people learn more about me while being around me.

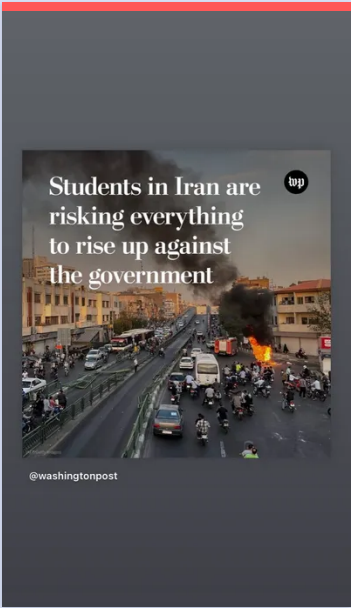

A symbolic object that represents a significant aspect of my identity

I couldn't think of an object that could symbolize me, however, I think my cat is an important part of my identity. He is one of my favourite things in my life, he's with me all the time, and is the sweetest thing ever. He symbolizes who I am since he is always seen on my social medias, and he is one of my main conversation topics. I also love cats and talk about them a lot, which is part of my personality/ identity.

1. A- What recent stories, videos, and/or content on the internet make you think?

Recently, I've been seeing a lot of Instagram content related to the conflicts in Iran. Many posts and stories have been shared by the people I follow, and on the browsing page. I don't follow the news, or watch it, so I didn't know much about the internal conflict Iran is facing right now. It was eye opening to see that other countries have to fight for the rights that I am given so easily. It is heartbreaking to see that other countries in the world are not equal and have to face so many losses and conflicts just to fight for themselves.

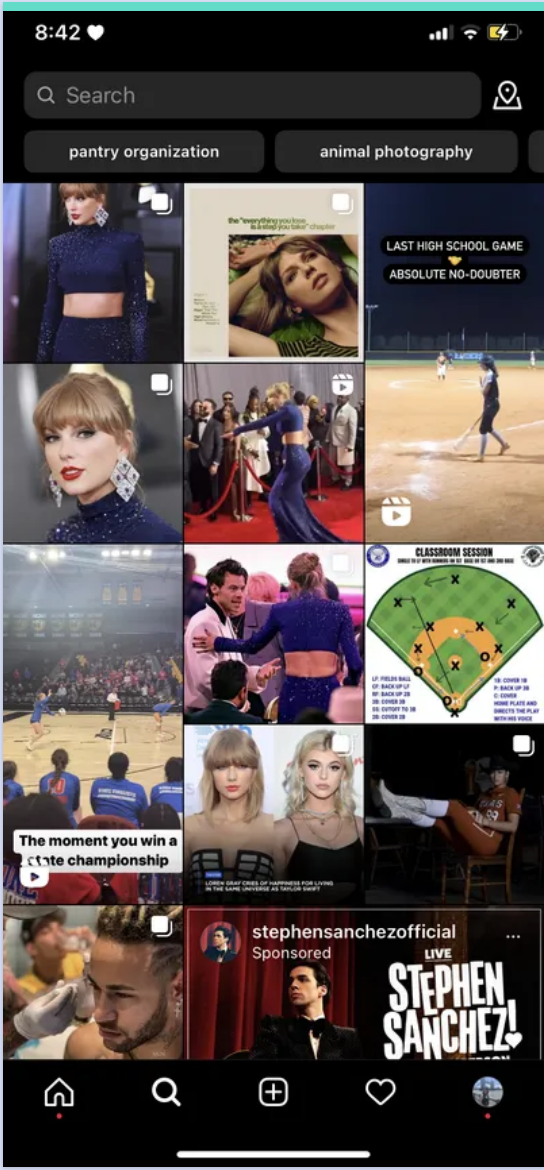

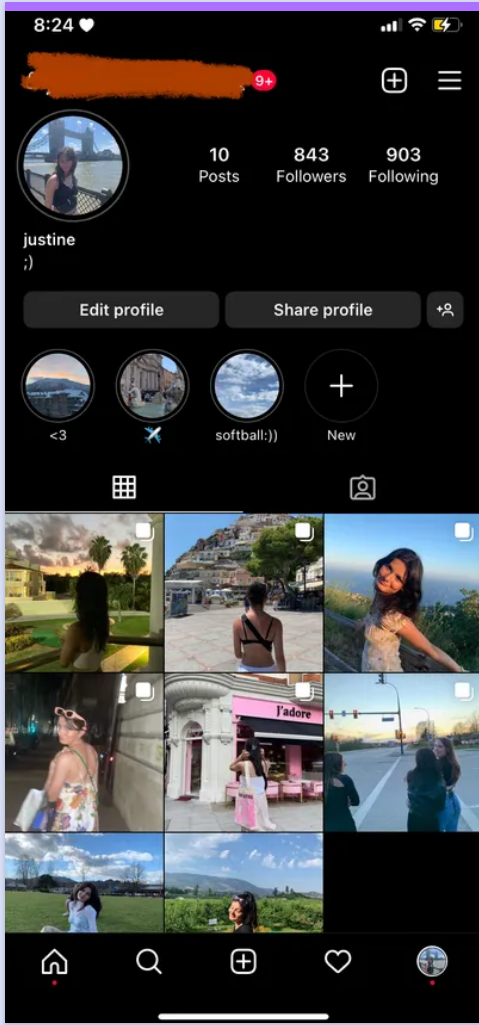

1. B- What do you 'stand for'?

An online activity that contains most of my views on the world would have to be Instagram. On this app, I can see posts and creators who see the world the same way I do, and find new ways to view my life. I constantly see things on my feed that I can relate to, or new things which could benefit me. For the most part, the side of Instagram I am part of is a positive environment with a feed full of content that represents what I am interested in and the things I believe in.

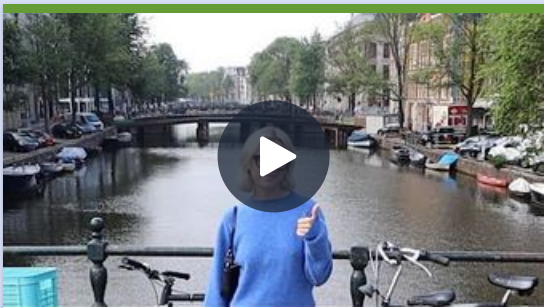

1. C- What online activity/website captures any of these feelings for you?

I know this may not be the best way to think about it, but TikTok is my sweet little escape from my reality. When on TikTok, I find a lot of videos that help me connect to the world around me, and learn new things everyday. I always find myself having a good laugh when scrolling through my feed, even when I'm in a bad mood. I definitely could spend less time on TikTok, but it is a perfect getaway and gives me a nice break during a busy and stressful day.

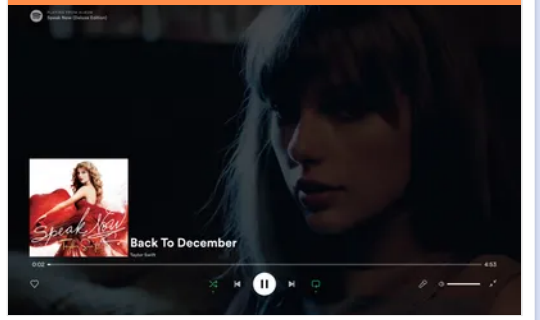

A recent video I love and why.

I've been following Emma Chamberlain's videos for years now, but I really enjoyed her two travel videos. I chose the Amsterdam video because I have never been before and found it interesting to see the city. She brought us shopping, to cafes, and all over the city. I love this video since we get to see a glimpse of Amsterdam without being there, as well as getting an idea of the culture and how the citizens of Amsterdam live.

My favourite song that resonates with me and why

My favourite song changes day by day, but if I had to choose one for today, it would be Back to December by Taylor Swift. Taylor Swift is my favourite artist, and this song is about regretting her past and realizing she made mistakes. Even though it's a song based around her relationship with Taylor Lautner (which is another reason I love this song), I resonate with it because I also have difficulties realizing when I am wrong most times. Throughout the song she used lyrics that describe her having too much pride to be able to admit she was mistaken, but she realizes she was the one who made bad decisions and lost a good thing and can't "turn back time". Which I can relate too on many levels.
