Self-Reflection

Reflect upon your time in Calculus 12. Not only have you made it through one of the more difficult courses in your high school career, you have also done so during a challenging world event. Which core competency has been utilized the most for you, to get you through this course? (You can pick more than one if you feel you've tackled a couple). Write a couple paragraphs explaining why.

You can refer to the PDF attached the assignment to delve into the specifics of each core competency.

During my time in Calculus 12, I have demonstrated strengths and growth in the communication competency. I have learned how to better communicate my thought process when solving problems. I have also learned how to communicate with teachers and classmates virtually using Microsoft Teams. I might further develop my communication competency by gaining the confidence to ask the teacher for help when needed.

I have also demonstrated strengths and growth in the thinking competencies. Calculus 12 caused me to think in different ways than I usually would in order to solve problems. I learned new ways to solve different problems, and how to combine them in multi-step problems. I also learned how to verify my solutions. I might further develop my thinking competencies by finding better ways to study, and verifying my solutions more often.
