Self-Reflection

Describe how the artifact you selected shows your strengths & growth in specific core competencies. The prompt questions on the left - or other self-assessment activities you may have done - may guide your reflection process.

This is a core competency for my podcast project.

Some ways that I used to communicate my learning try put in most of the things what I have learned so far in projects such as writing, videos, and stories. So, for this podcast project, I use my understanding of how a podcast works, how it can be created and what happened to the indigenous people in the past, how we can help, recognize and knowledge the indigenous community.

When I disagree with someone in my group, I try to think in their perspective and why they have a different outcome or choose another option instead. Then, I discuss with them with an understanding of why they think this way and both of our thoughts so we can figure out something that we both will agree on. There might be arguments through out the conversation which probably not able to avoid and because of that, I will have to step back and tell them what or how I think but also understanding their perspective so we can choose their option instead.
